From the desk of the Editor

On a recent weekend away with Salvation Brass we were encouraged to think about people who have encouraged us.

For you, maybe it's family, friends, work colleagues or people you worship with. Whoever has encouraged you I am sure it has been just at the times you have needed it.

In our Christian faith we can turn to God for encouragement as 'God has our back' when times get hard. He gives us the strength we need when our strength is gone.

In 1 Thessalonians Ch 5 vs 11 it reads 'So speak encouraging words to one another. Build up hope so you'll all be together in this, No one left out, no one left behind. I know you're already doing this, just keep on doing it.'

Our church isn't a place where we go to worship, we are the church, without us there wouldn't be Staple Hill Salvation Army; so continue to support each other when times get difficult and God will 'have our back' in continuing to proclaim his message to the community of Staple Hill.

'I can do all things through Christ who gives me strength
But sometimes I wonder what he can do for me. No great success to show, No glory of my own, yet in my weakness he is there to let me know.

His Strength is perfect
when our strength is gone,
He'll carry us when we can't carry on,
Raised in his power the weak become strong,
His strength is perfect.'

Officer's Desk

Over the summer I spent all our available spare time decorating our dining and living rooms - a job which put the whole house in a state of flux for 6 weeks. My initial unrealistic projections were for 2 weeks, but we encountered some plastering issues which took a little resolving.

This week I have been tackling the main bedroom, which again has put us in a state of complete upheaval. This time we found that there was no skirting behind the wardrobes along with some dodgy electrics. Given that Nicola will blow an even big gasket if it takes longer than the 2 weeks promised, it will be a few even earlier mornings and late nights.

Why put ourselves through this stress in what was described as an adequate and functional quarters? Well for many of you who have moved house, there is a difference between living in a house to living in a home, and through this process it will allow us to unpack some of those more sentimental boxes, which have remained in the garage, and feel more settled.

In terms of our spiritual journey, Staple Hill Salvation Army can either be a church where we attend, a place which is adequate and functional, or it can be our spiritual home. A place where we come when there are no better offers or a place where we commit, unpack, relax and grow in the Lord's presence. Is Staple Hill Salvation Army just a church to you, or is it your Spiritual Home? Is it a place to go or a place to be? Is it a place of last resort or a place of first? My hope and prayer is that if you have not yet unpacked, that you commit to making Staple Hill Salvation Army your Spiritual Home.

Bristol's City Wait

On 15th October, Victoria Heath (age 16) attended a reception, at the Mansion House, given by the Lord Mayor of Bristol and the Guild of Guardians in order to be appointed to the office of 'City Wait'. This appointment is in recognition of her outstanding musical achievements and to reflect her commitment and involvement in music making within the city. Only 2 talented young musicians are appointed to the post of City Wait each year, so this is a tremendous honour for Victoria, reflecting the exceptionally high standard she has now achieved on the flute.

The post dates back to medieval times when the City retained the services of four minstrels to provide entertainment on municipal occasions. By 1540 they were officially known as 'City Waits'; the term 'wait' originating from the name of an early form of oboe that the original minstrels played. They were responsible for providing the music for state and civic processions. Their insignia was the common livery together with a collar and badge made of silver which can still be seen on display at the Council House; Victoria is pictured wearing her 'chain of office' in the above photograph (although it had to be returned as soon as the ceremony was over!). Although the office was dispensed with in about 1834 as a money saving measure, it was revived in 1988 by the Guild of Guardians and is now accompanied by a small grant that Victoria is going to put towards a new instrument to help her in her future studies and musical career.

For the next year, Victoria will hold the official title of 'City Wait' and will be required to play at various municipal and civic occasions. Of course, she will also continue to play her flute each Sunday as part of our own worship band!

Readers of Salvationist may have noticed that some revised Positional Statements have been published in recent editions. More will be coming in the next few months. These indicate the consensus and corporate view of The Salvation Army on a given topic as at the date of their issue. They set out Biblical values and principles by which Salvationists are encouraged to live. The recent titles are a sample of topics, namely Environment; Sabbath Keeping; Euthanasia, assisted suicide and living wills; and Alcohol. Their thoroughness is illustrated by the Alcohol PS which had over a page of footnotes with a note that expanded ones were available on the THQ website: - this also has a full schedule of current Positional Statements.

For the last four years I have been a member of the Moral and Social Issues Council (MASIC) at THQ. This is a small group which advises the Territorial leadership on current issues and prepares draft Positional Statements, sometimes going through many stages of discussion, spiritual reflection and redrafting. When it is finally agreed MASIC submits a recommended PS to the THQ Cabinet. When approved it goes to the International MASIC and ultimately to the General for final sign off. None of these steps is a rubber stamping exercise and we do get references back for reconsideration and/or clarification. Every PS is subject to periodic review; it can be a long process! John Gowans' words are very apt: - 'In a world of shifting values there are standards that remain'. We are challenged to distinguish between the “shifting values” and the “standards that remain”.

A number of topics will be on the agenda of this month's MASIC Conference. These include a presentation on Gambling from two members who have been studying the subject in depth. The School and Colleges Unit at THQ have prepared a lesson plan on the Alcohol PS targeted for 14-16 year olds which we will also receive. It looks very good and it doesn't need the rigorous approval of a Positional Statement and I doubt we will want to change any of it. The Unit has also produced “Issues” covering six PS's to explain and explore where The Salvation Army stands. I have these two documents electronically and can copy these to anyone who would like them.
